

Lesson for October 17, 2018

For reinforcement, the students will research a case in which the situation around the Miranda warning was questionable. The students will evaluate the case to verify that the two-prong interrogation test was applied in the ruling. The students will write a short brief about the case. Use the Research Rubric for assessment.

For enrichment, the students will create a scenario and exchange it with another student. The students will analyze the constitutionality of the Miranda warning in the scenario that they received in writing. The students must include a detailed justification for the scenario. Use the Individual Work Rubric for assessment.